

Number 46

THE BAD BOY.

Love is a strange thing. It is something that is inherited and all people in all ages have it, regardless of sex, color, race or previous conditions of servitude. Do not keep boxes of love and tenderness sealed away until after your friends are gone. Fill their lives with sweetness and happiness. Speak improving, cheering words while their earthly ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled by them. The kind words which you mean to say when they are dead, say them now; the flowers you mean to send for their grave and coffin, send now to brighten and sweeten their homes before they are gone.

If my friends have boxes of love laid away, full of fragrant perfumes of sympathy and affection, which they intend to break over my cast-off body, I would rather they bring them out in my weary and troubled hours and open them, that I may be cheered and strengthened by them while I need them. I would rather have a plain coffin without a single flower than a life without the sweetness of love and sympathy.

Let's learn to anoint our friends with love beforehand. After death kindness does not cheer the burdened spirit. Flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the weary way. Kindness is more dear than gold. To the friendless, poor and homeless "true, loving kindness," is an oasis in a desert of our lives, a gleam of light and joy in the hour of darkness, and nourishment to their hungry lives and souls.

To relieve distresses and supply the needs and wants of our friends is "filling their lives with sweetness and happiness," and is the true way to honor and glorify our God, who is Love.

His hair is red and tangled, and he has a turned-up nose,
His voice is loud and strident and
it never gets repose;
His face is full of freckles, and his ears are shaped like fins
A large front tooth is missing as you'll notice when he grins.
He is like a comic picture from

It is he who marks the carpet
with the print of muddy boots,
And rejoices id a doorbell that is pulled out by the roots.
Who whistles on his fingers till he almost splits your ear,
And shocked the various callers with slang he chanced to hear.
He fills the house with tumult,
the neighborhood with dread—
But his mother calls him 'darling' when she tucks him up in bed.

A black and white photograph of a crowded boat deck. A young boy in a dark jacket and light-colored pants stands in the foreground, looking towards the camera. Behind him, a large group of people, including men, women, and children, are gathered on the deck. The boat has a white railing and a dark hull. The background is bright and overexposed.

That was a wise man who, years ago, pointed out to us the importance of putting the best foot forward. We hear much about the faithfulness of the dog. When the master comes home at night his lagging steps are met by his dumb friend who never fails to put his best foot foremost, backed by a wagging tail that mighty artists are bending forward to designate fagot-like lines that suggest excited emotion. I wonder if the wife realizes the importance of this bit of philosophy about putting the best foot forward and if she appreciates the lesson taught by that dog as he trots down the walk to meet the weary worker at the sunset hour? We hear a great deal now days about unhappy homes and the increase of divorces. So awfully much depends upon that best foot movement. Like produces like, and woman's smile to the returnin' husband will bear like fruit. I fear too many women one leave it to the dog to welcome the master home. After the dog the first impression some men receive of home is a woman who forgets to smile, irritated with the troubles that bear down upon her. Her irritability spreads to him and here lies one of the most potent reasons why home is unhappy. There is nothing on earth that so much endears a man to his home as to have the sunshine of a good woman in it. If she knows her business, she is a cluster of fixed stars of virtue radiating around the home-circle reluming all that comes into her delightful presence. She is the moon and he is the man in the moon and the sweetest thing that life can offer to the man in the moon is the unclouded welcome of a pure woman. She is the ever resplendent rainbow of the storms of life and home with her in it will always be a harbor where the sunset paints golden flowers of peace. Thousands of women find themselves left alone at evening while the husband exchanges stories down-town, back of some public place. These good women, no doubt, often wonder why home does not appeal to them. Lay aside for the moment yourself the question, "am I putting my best foot forward?" Do not answer this by saying that the man does not appreciate the worries and the monotony of your life, what you gave up to marry him and all this, because all these things are history now, and the man, too, has his troubles and his wrestlings with life. You both have lost something to gain something more. Meet one another with a smile. Put the best foot forward. Do not be outdone by a dog. If the meat is scorched and the bread won't rise, leave these troubles in the kitchen when you go out the front door as your husband approaches. Don't think he won't notice it, don't think he won't appreciate it; don't think that he won't know you are a brave little woman, smiling when there should be tears. The wife is much dearer than the bride!

In conclusion, put the best foot forward. It will help you keep step with business.

Edwards refused the petition for pardon of Caleb Powers, whom he had always claimed to be a persecuted political prisoner. But we remember when a certain that had come to London about the same time Edwards came from Kansas, was being tried for the murder of an innocent mountain girl, whose dying statement was that this man had seduced her under promise of marriage and performed an abortion upon her,—when this man sought freedom, Mr. Edwards gladly wrote "in confidence" to the Governor, asking that he be pardoned. This shows clearly how much this man Edwards thinks of the mountain people. tf.

Did you ever stop to think
That the man who stops to think,
Running out his mental tissue
On a movement or an issue,
While his progress is congested
And his actions are arrested
By the weight
Of the great
Burning questions in his pate,
Never puts his dreams on canvas, never puts his thoughts to ink,
Never altars laws or lands because
He merely stops to think?

Did you ever stop to ponder
That the man who stops to ponder
While the thread of fate's unwinding
And the mills of God are grinding,
And the men who rule the mill
Do their thinking while they toil,
Mingling thought—
As they ought—
With the wonders they have wrought
That the fellow who has stopped to do his thinking over yonder
Doesn't aid in the act by the mere cold fact

That he has stopped to ponder?
There's a call of life to ponder,
There's a cry of life to think,
But the striver over yonder
In the game of swim or sink
Cannot stop for how or why,
Lest the swifter pass him by,
And the man who grasps the lever
Has no chance to rehearse
Idle thoughts, however clever,
When the signal comes, "Reverse!"
But the grand
Shall command
When the brain has wed the hand,
And the thinker shall be mighty and shall prosper in the land;
Not the hermits of the Indies, who from life and duty shrink,
But the men whose thoughts are moving—
They shall never stop to think.

Never did the Democrats of the Eleventh Congressional district support Mr. Bryan or Mr. Beckham with more enthusiasm and zeal than they are now supporting Mr. Edwards. They are proclaiming his (supposed) greatness. They are saying they will contribute to his campaign fund. Will the Republicans in this, the Gibraltar of Republicanism in the State and nation, support a man so controlled by the Democrats? Are the Republicans of this district to follow the lead of a man who in the past tried to defeat Bradley for the United States Senate with a man like J. C. W. Beckham? This same man, Edwards, now wants the Democrats to vote in a Republican primary. There is something radically wrong with the Republicanism of such a man. Mr. Edwards has never shown a true Kentucky spirit, but how could he? He is not one of us. He was solicitous for the welfare of a man who in Laurel county entered the home of a pure Mountain girl and after gaining her love and heart he promised his hand, but he murdered her instead. Mr. Edwards asked "in confidence" that he be pardoned for this crime. That is not the spirit of a Kentuckian. The wonder is that he was ever sent to Congress the first time. No Republican district will ever return him. Caleb Powers may have made some mistakes, he has had some unusually hard trials, but there is one thing sure, Caleb Powers has never shown the white feather. He has stood in the thickest of the fight for the principles of the Republican party. He is a Republican, and with him there is no compromise with dishonor. He has never been known to desert his party or shirk a duty. Truer and better men never lived than those who live in the Eleventh district. They are true to their party, though the Democrats curse them. They ought to, and will, be true to those who defend them—true to Caleb Powers.

As has been stated heretofore, we want it distinctly and positively understood that the Eagle is for neither Caleb Powers or Don C. Edwards in their race for the nomination for Congress in this district. We have no interest whatever in either of the gentlemen. They are both in the business of politics, both advertising for business, and whatever either of them do through the Eagle is done the same as a merchant or any other business man would do it—by paying the cash at certain space prices. We want all our readers of the political faith of the candidates to make up their minds when it comes to voting and vote as they please. We are not in the least concerned as to which this shall be. If this statement don't suffice nothing will.

The third year of the Eagle ends soon and none of our friends will want to be owing us on subscriptions when the year ends. If this article has a blue pencil mark across it you owe us, or we think you do, and though it be ever so little please come in or send in and let's get square. Our support depends upon what we get through this paper and no man could be our friend who would want to take this from us. Kindly heed the warning.

NEWS.

The date of this Eagle is June 14, 1910, and not June 13, 1910, as the types make us say on our front page.

Bld. S.C. Tyree returned from Pineville.

Robt. Bates, of Thornton, was here Saturday.

Engineer S. H. Fields returned from Bristol.

John Callihan, of Roxana, was in to see us. He informed us that the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Polly Callahan, would be preached at mouth of King's Creek on third Saturday and Sunday in Oct. by Elds. D. M. Maggard, Ira Combs and W. R. Boggs.

Mrs. C. A. McCov, of Lake Charles, La., has arrived to join her husband. They will occupy the J. P. Adams property, owned by Supt. Dixon, on Presbyterian Heights. We welcome them.

In the Quarterly Court Monday several judgments were rendered and the docket almost cleared. Some of the lawyers, however, thought it best not to get out of leading articles.

I. B. Fields came over from Kings Creek to see Alice and the babies.

Dow Collins has abandoned for the hot season his logging on Crafts Colly and other places.

Cousin James H. Mullins, of Owen Fork, the biggest real estate owner in the county, called and paid his Eagle subscription up to Dec. 1911.

The champion heavy-weight pugilistic belt is now where it belongs. May no white man ever befool his hands by trying to snatch the belt from its present wearer. Let the negroes fight for it among themselves. In our opinion the sooner respectable newspapers quit commenting on the Reno battle the better it will be for civilization.

When Chief Justice Fuller quit the highest court in the land and joined the great majority on "the other side" Constitutional liberty and law lost one of its strongest and ablest defenders.

No, child, we can't make all the Eagles as big as last week's. Some of our friendly(?) subscribers in the past "dodged the pudding" on us which prevents those who do pay from getting what we would like to give them. There is some consolation in the fact that those who won't pay will have to "square up" in another clime some of these days.

Esquire W. M. Blair, of Thornton, is so low with typhoid that he is not expected to live. His brother, Patrick and his wife, who have been down with this dreadful malady, are somewhat improved.

Prof. Elijah Hale, with John A. Craft, Jr., assistant, will open school at this place next Monday. Miss Eunice Baker, of Hazard, will have charge of the County High School.

Collector Sam Collins went to Eolia on official business.

Eld. Sam Tyree is ill.

Some correspondence is unavoidably crowded out. It shall not occur again.

Edwards and Powers are both well represented in this issue.

Several of our Gordon friends attended Quarterly Court here Monday.

The postoffice has been moved to Ira Field & Co.'s store.

Miss Margie Bentley, daughter of R. B. Bentley, is among the sick this week.

G. K. Vimont, representing the Indian Refining Oil Co., of Cincinnati, is in town looking after trade.

We are in receipt of a copy of the "Seoul Press," published at Seoul, Korea, mailed by our friend, Dr. J. W. Nolan, now located at that far off point. The paper was a month and two days in reaching us.

Tom Whitson, a good citizen and Eagle supporter of Eolia, was here yesterday.

An eighteen-year-old Kentucky boy was lynched by a mob at Newark, O., last Friday evening. The boy was in jail accused of killing the ex-chief of police of the town while acting as a detective saloon raider.

A GOOD SIZED MONUMENT.

An order has lately been placed with one of the most up-to-date marble mills in the United States for a beautiful marble monument to be erected at the grave of the late John Venters, who was buried in Thornton Cemetery last August. The order was placed through John S. Webb of East Kentucky Marble Agency of Thornton, this county, by Dr. J. E. Venters, son of the deceased. Altho' the deal was private, somewhat confidential, yet the job will cost in neighborhood of $150, will weigh more than 2000 pounds and will stand about ten feet high when erected.

In this issue is a real sensible article by Prof. Ned Ison, one of our best contributors. Next week he will have another.

Letcher County in the Congressional Race.

Dear Editor,

I have been asked by many of the citizens of the county for an opinion as to how the county stood as between Mr. Powers and Mr. Edwards for Congress. Mr. Edwards has visited the county and made several speeches, but judging from the small crowds that heard him and the lack of interest in his candidacy it looks gloomy for him in this county. While Mr. Powers has not presented his claims, yet people from all sections will tell you that Powers is ahead in their section. It looks that Letcher county is safely anchored in the Powers column by a good majority, S. E. BAKER, Atty.

"Man's Inhumanity to Man"

LONDON ECHO.

If there is any person in the Eleventh Congressional district who believes that Caleb Powers is a fit person, morally, spiritually or intellectually, to represent the district in Congress, or in any capacity, this belief should be shattered to fragments when the following correspondence, which passed between Powers and Mr. M. G. Hignite, of Barbourville, is read and fully digested. We make the assertion unqualifiedly that Powers is unfit to go before the people and ask for their support, in the light of this correspondence alone, were there nothing more to bring against him. He is not fit morally or spiritually, because no man, in whose breast beats a heart that is warm toward his fellow man, could conceive of so vicious and vile a deed as this which Powers planned and threatened. He is unfit intellectually, for intellectual attainment brings with it a certain refinement and no person of refinement could write as Powers did to Mr. Hignite. Below we give an exact copy of the correspondence, beginning with Powers' telegram to Mr. Hignite and ending with Mr. Hignite's letter to Powers:

TELEGRAM

"Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 27, 1906
M. G. Hignite, Barbourville, Ky.
Come to Georgetown at once at my expense. Important business. Caleb Powers.

Mr. Hignite immediately replied to Powers with the following letter:

Hon. Caleb Powers, Georgetown, Ky.
Dear Friend Powers—Your telegram received at 4 p. m. today. I was surprised to hear from you as I had not heard from you in so long. I could not come tonight because of some business matters, but if you will write me by return mail I will gladly do anything I can for you. Write me at once and let me know what you want as it looks like it is impossible for me to come just now. Truly your friend, M. G. Hignite.

On Aug. 29, two days later, Powers replied to Mr. Hignite's letter which is published herewith. Read it carefully, and note the egotism displayed by Powers.

Georgetown, Ky. Aug. 29, '06
M. G. Hignite, Barbourville, Ky.
My Dear Hignite—Your good letter received and carefully noted. Let me assure you that I appreciate your great kindness in offering to do whatever you can for me. I have always found you to be one of my truest friends. You stood by me when others were trying to ruin me. When others failed I could always rely upon you.

Now I have a favor to ask of you that you must not turn me down on. My success in my next trial depends largely upon my being able to carry out this plan. I have a friend that I must take care of.
My brother-in-law, W. H. Green, is going to be without employment soon. I want you to resign as Deputy Collector and recommend to Judge Cooper that Mr. Green be given your place. You have law license and can make a living practicing law. Mr. Green has no profession and will soon be out of work. I think that in view of what I have done for you that I may expect you to do this for me. I stood by you in the past. Now I am under and you are on top and you must stand by me.

Let me have a letter from you resigning and asking Mr. Cooper to appoint Green and if at any time in the future I can help you I will do it freely but you must do this for me without delay. I know that in a year or two I will be out and then I will take care of you. Hoping to hear from you at once, I am, Truly yours, Caleb Powers.

In Mr. Hignite's reply below it will be seen that he was utterly astonished at the demands made by Powers. The letter follows:

Hon. Caleb Powers, Georgetown, Ky.
My Dear Mr. Powers—Your letter of Aug. 29 was received by me and I have taken time to carefully consider your request and advise with my friends about it. After receiving your telegram I went to see your sister, Mrs. Green, to see if she could tell me anything that would give me an idea of what you wanted.

From what she said I decided that you wanted me to take a place in the Collector's office at Danville and allow Mr. Green, your brother-in-law, to have my place here. I could not have done this because I have bought property here and all my business is here and I could not afford to leave at this time. In fact it looked like that Hays might as well go to Danville as for me to go; but to find out that you expected me to resign altogether and give my place to your brother-in-law was indeed a wonderful surprise. I have consulted my friends and we have decided that this is not reasonable. I never heard of a man doing that or asking for such a thing to be done before in my life.

I have always done what I could for you and will still do all I can, but this is out of all reason. Green had as well lie out of a job as for me to be. I am, Truly your friend, M. G. Hignite.

In the next Powers shows his venom. He no longer addresses his letters to "My Dear Hignite," but says "Dear Sir."

Georgetown, Ky. Sept. 5, 1906.
M. G. Hignite, Barbourville, Ky.
Dear Sir—Your letter of Sept. 3 was received. I am sorry to find that you are disposed to prove yourself ungrateful to me. I have always been your friend and have made you what you are. I am surprised to find you refusing to grant this, a very small request.

You can save me as your friend by immediately resigning and recommending Mr. Green, or you can lose me by refusing to do this. I am a little impatient about this matter. You should have resigned at my first request without hesitating. I am going to give you time to consider this and stand down and out in credit and honor. If you do not do this I will at once proceed to have you thrown out in dishonor. Truly yours, Caleb Powers.

Mr. Hignite's response is brief and to the point:

Barbourville, Ky. Sept. 7 1906.
Hon. Caleb Powers, Georgetown, Ky.
Dear Mr. Powers—Yours of Sept. 5 carefully noted. I am sorry you insist on such an unreasonable proposition even to the extent of having me thrown out in dishonor. I have done nothing for which to be removed. I have tried to do my duty. If you and your brother-in-law want to pursue the course you threaten, proceed at your pleasure. Your friend, M. G. Hignite.

A month elapsed, during which time Powers tried to have Hignite removed. He then wrote the following:

Georgetown, Ky. Oct. 8, 1906.
My Dear Hignite—After going fully over the situation with Mr. Green he and I have decided not to ask for your removal. While Mr. Cooper has made me no promise in the matter I feel sure that I could have put up such a fight on you as would have removed you. In fact I intended to have a petition in each voting precinct in the four counties involved on election day and would have gotten a large majority of the vote in the four counties asking that Green be given the place. Under these circumstances you could not have held your place. I just wanted to show you that I was not afraid of being defeated in the matter. And I want to say to you further that if you have at any time in the future a friend that has done for you as I have done for you and he asks you to come to see him I would advise you not to ignore the request.

I will forgive you for this but if you ever treat me that way again you can count me your enemy. Trusting that what I here say is satisfactory, and wishing you well, I am still your friend, Caleb Powers.

Mr. Hignite, who is still holding his job, responded with the closing letter, as follows:

Barbourville, Ky. Oct. 10, 1906.
Hon. Caleb Powers, Georgetown, Ky.
My Dear Sir—Yours of Oct. 8 received. I cannot agree with you that I have wronged you or mistreated you in the least. I have always been your friend. Without further comment on the subject I have this to say. If you and your brother-in-law are willing to quit without the job, I am well satisfied to quit with it. Very respectfully, M. G. Hignite.

Needn't Be Afraid.
It used to be stated in the school books that the condor of the Andes was strong enough to pick up a good sized man and fly away with him, and that a boy of 12 years old would be only a feather in his grip. According to the latest reports no condor can lift into the air a weight exceeding 20 pounds, and the boys who have stood in awe of him can now have a sigh of relief.
